Vienna, February 20.

THE Emperour has newly declared that he will have all religious Grievances in the Empire determined under Penalty of Execution before his Journey to Prague. Advices are received that the King of Prussia, as Chief of the House of Brandenburg, has caused himself to be declared Guardian of the young Hereditary Prince of Brandenburg Anspach, in order to have the Administration and Government of his Estate, notwithstanding the Pretensions of the States of Franconia, the Bishops of Bamberg, Würzburg and Eichstet, and of the Grand Master of the Teutonic Order. The Answer which his Imperial Majesty caused to be made to a Letter wrote lately by the Duke of Mecklenbourg, praying to have the Troops of Execution withdrawn from his Territories, contained in Substance, --- That it depended only upon his Highness to free his Dominions from those Troops, by conforming himself to the Imperial Decree founded upon Justice and Equity, as well as upon the Constitution of the Empire; that if his Highness felt but the least Tenderness for his Subjects, instead of seeing them ruined through his Obstinacy, he would seek all possible Means to relieve them, which could flow from good Disposition on his Part; and that for his Imperial Majesty's Part, he had much rather behold the Dominions of his Empire in a prosperous and flourishing Condition, than enervated and declining.

Stockholm, Feb. 13. Last Week the Assembly of the Peasants sent a Letter to the Burghers, by a Deputation of several of their Members, wherein they acquainted the Burghers with the Desire they had of enlarging the King's Power, and required their Concurrence. To this the Burghers returned Answer, that the Matter of their Request was of such a Nature, that they judged it proper first to communicate the same to the Nobility, and take their Opinion upon it. Accordingly on the 9th Instant Twelve of the Burghers were deputed to the Chamber of the Nobility with a Copy of the said Letter. The Marshal, in the Name of the Nobility, thanked the Burghers for their Participation of that Affair, and told them they would consider of it. This Morning the Nobility came to a Resolution upon the Point in the Peasant's Letter to the Burghers, and declared themselves of a contrary Opinion; as have also the Clergy. The Burghers have taken time to give their Opinion.
